

Declaration concerning the General data protection regulation 2016-679 in the EU on www.go-a.de (Architekturbüro Göbel, Palisadenstraße 22, 64297 Darmstadt) for EU users only

1. Matter of this declaration

The safety of your personal data is important to us. In the following we will inform you about which data is saved, how it is processed and used. Also we will inform you about technical and organizational measures we meet in order to handle your data safely.

2. Responsible Board

Responsible person following Art. 4 GDPR is the owner of the site Ralf Göbel. If you cannot print the Umlaut on your system, take a pencil and make them yourself on your paper copy. As for other communication data look at the imprint, which in your case is www.go-a.de/impr_en.html

3. Saving your data

All data which we save will be processed and used only for the declared purpose. Doing this, we will consider the applying regulations and with your explicit consent only.

In cases of Art. 21 GDPR you can refuse saving, processing and use of your data. Send us an email on info@go-a.de or a postal letter if you get the impression, that we did not react on your mail. If you are in the european union, you can also send your complaint to your national board.. You can as well go to the hessian board of data security but in this case, you will have to use german language. Der Hessische Datenschutzbeauftragte, Postfach 3163, 65021 Wiesbaden, Poststelle@datenschutz.hessen.de, www.datenschutz.hessen.de/

How much of your data and the way we will process it, will depend on whether you use our site, to inform you about what we are providing or to use a service we possibly will provide.

a) Use for informational purpose only

It is not necessary, to provide any personal information at all.

In this case, we will save and use the data, which is supplied by your internet browser anyway, such as:

- Date and time of your visit
- your type of browser
- some of your browser configuration
- your operating system
- the site you came from, if any
- the submitted amount of data and the answer to your request (file submitted, file not found etc.)
- your ip address.

This data is saved by our hoster (1&1 Internet SE, Elgendorfer Str. 57, 56410 Montabaur, Germany) in a predefined packet contract. Possibly you have an own right to request information in the sense of GDPR against this hoster. We get anonymized data from this hoster and use it for statistics, such as which of our pages on this site have been visited how often. We do not union this data with other sources of information but rather delete the data after use, which complies to the order of the european court of 19/10/2016 (C 582/14).

b) Use of services for projects

This site serves at the moment for information purposes only. We don't provide any service like login-pages etc. In case of commission there will be encrypted servers.

4. Necessary consent for data processing

In the case of a contract there will be a separate agreement about saving, processing and the use of data concerning the project. We will offer a facility following 3b).
